Is your life a dream devoid,
Empty of all bliss-enjoyed
Bygone days? Is Faith destroyed?

If your world seems so to be,
Then I know you long for me
Half as much as I for thee!

Do you miss me, tell me true,
Half as much as I miss you?

Wednesday.

Darling Hubby:—

To-day is simply miserable. Rained practically all yesterday, but to-day is police. Just coming down in buckets full, and it looks as though it were, never, never going to stop. All your letters this week have been so appealing that honest honey I just felt like leaving everything go & just come down. But dear, after all, it is impossible for me to start as we originally planned, on May 1st. — but look, on May 8th I shall leave and be with you on the 10th. That will be only a week later —

As to mom honey, she is feeling about the same. There can be, absolutely, no improvement while she stays here in fact I feel that she is only harming herself. You can realize how impossible it is for her to take care of herself, too at home. Henry's tonsils have healing up nicely but now he is in bed with bronchitis. He certainly is a delicate child. Helen is up around and out. She suffered very little. Dear you ought to write to mom more often - if you have the time.

You asked me, dear, if I love my lonesome hubby. Yes I thought, honey! What do you think? I cut the little verse from a magazine. It seems so appropriate.

Do you miss me, tell me true
Half as much as I miss you?

Do you?

I do hope the time passes quickly. Two weeks to-day I quit Millinee. That will quickly pass. Then one week more — and I shall be with you.

Now look, did you spend these 2 days of Passover? Does uncle observe the holidays? Let me know how you spent your evenings. And remember, honey, I want you to go out and meet people. — mix more socially — hear? It is best for your business, and then too, you will have a circle of friends to me. That is what you told me you were going to do, isn't it? Brace up, look and get out more.

I rec'd your Monday letter. Am sorry you did not cancel the Ch. Repetition but the repeat "your sentiments you should worry". It'll come same other way. Mean, I am sure happy you got 25 out of that case. It comes along alright, alright!

Thats right keep on taking a tablet when necessary. Happy to know your "tummy" is a little better. Simply keep on using care. But clean — you must get over the blues — hear? Otherwise I'll not look for anymore.

With all my love & kisses to my precious hubby dear, and all my luck,

Your lonesome
Wifie.

Am enclosing Ada's letter. This is where you are fooled again. However, love, this letter is by yer 'en fatter 'no the one I got. You sure are getting to be a stingy hubby. Wrote me several days ago this week. Don't forget to pay me back. Wondering how you made out at the mission's to-night. Is certainly hope so.
